Dear Families,

The students did a Really good job learning about the letter Rr. We are still working on the correct /r/ sound, but this will continue throughout the year! The students enjoyed reading about all the different Little Red Riding Hood versions and comparing and contrasting them! In Math, the students are so excited about addition! We will be learning the foundation of addition along with many games!

Next week we are doing A LOT of testing. The students will be doing report card testing, and our AIMS Web Reading and Kindergarten Math Assessments will also be performed on Thursday! We are glad to get it out of the way so we can enjoy a few days before the Christmas break! In Math, we will continue our Addition chapter and will be creating a cookie book using addition.

I hope you have a great weekend! Please contact me with any questions or concerns. -Mrs. Zenk
